Workers Praised.The total raised in the Atlanta
Community Chest campaign was $443,335, only $77,000 short of the $521,000 goal, when H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the Georgia Railway and Power company, announced an increase to $10,000 in the gift of the power company and an increase to $2,400, double his original gift, in his personal contribution. Final reports were made at luncheon on the Ansley roof when the campaign organization was disbanded by Bayne Gibson, president of the chest.Mr. Atkinson reported several smaller increases, amounting in all to $4,500, secured by the special committee of business men, including himself, Eugene R. Black and Major John S. Cohen, which was one of 13 business men's committees which Tuesday had launched an effort to secure $72,- 000 from large property owners.The total reported Friday was approximately $40,000 secured during the four-day extension campaign in addition to the $403,000 secured during the intensive period of the campaign which opened two weeks ago and has been conducted steadily ever since.

Groups Pass Quotas.

The commercial employee division,
headed by Frank Neely as chairman and with J. P. McGrath and George Deibert as division secretaries, maintained its earlier lead over all other divisions and wound up the campaign with a total of $21,977 secured on a quota of $15,000, or a 140 per cent of the quota. The utility division was the other to "go over the top."Robert H. Martin, chairman of district No. 2 in the division, made the outstanding district showing with a total of $2,083 secured on a $343 quota, or more than six times as much as his district was asked to raise.

tion.

BY FRANCISCO REA.

Rome, November 5.—Premier Mussolini personally has assumed charge of preventing future attacks against his life.By ousting the minister of the interior and taking that office for himself, thus bringing his total cabinet portfolio up to seven, the dominant figure of Italy, who has six times escaped the missiles of assassins, has taken charge of the forces whose duties are to prevent anarchy in Italy.At the same time he has started on his way to passage a bill which will not only restore the death penalty for those seeking his life, but which will be retroactive and thus make possible the execution of Major Tito

"Frost Is On the Pumpkin
And the Fodder's In Shock"

That means there are a lot of good things to eat on the market now that are just coming into season. Rabbits, turkeys, Hubbard squash, pumpkin pie material—and just any number of things you couldn't get a few weeks ago.

You will find them all listed in the grocery, market and produce advertisements in this morning's Constitution, along with the good, old, reliable, all-the-year-round food articles.

Prices quoted are the last for the day's business, and you can quickly make out your list from The Constitution advertisements and know just exactly what the complete over-Sunday supply is going to cost.

Hibbing, Minn., November 5.—(AP)—

What was supposed by nearby workmen to be the "shooting of a movie scene" here late today proved to be a holdup and kidnaping of P. M. King, a United States mail clerk, carrying valuable registered mail.King was hurriedly thrust into the automobile of the two bandits, one of whom pressed a gun against his side, and was driven away.King was released on the outskirts of Minneapolis tonight.Fed. I officials said they were uninformed as to the value of the contents of the registered mail pouches, seized while men working on a roof looked on, enjoying what they believed to be a film-making scene.The referendum elections in New York and Illinois to substitute a definition of intoxicating liquor which would include only those which are intoxicating in fact will have little weight. Members of congress know

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS' AID BODY WILL MEET

Rev. A. J. Sears, Methodist pastor of Lithuanian, president of the Widows and Orphans Aid Association of the North Georgia Methodist conference, announced Saturday that the annual anniversary program will be held Tuesday, November 9, at 7:30 o'clock, at Wesley Memorial church. Rev. Sears will preside.

Other officers of the society are

Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, vice president, and Dr. W. T. Hunnicutt, secretary-treasurer. A report will be submitted by Dr. Hunnicutt, who has handled the duties of this office for a number of years. Much interest attaches to the announcement that the address of the evening will be made by the presiding bishop of the conference whose four sessions begin the following morning. Bishop William Benjamin Beauchamp. This will be his first address to members assembled in a session of the annual conference probably, although he has been heard by congregations, quarterly conferences and district conferences since he was allotted to serve this area at the

EAST POINT LETS SCHOOL CONTRACT

East Point, Ga., November 5.—(Special.)—Contract is let by city council here tonight to W. P. Francis, chairman of the water committee of city council, announced the completion of the new 40-inch intake at the river pumping station, which will more than double the amount of water available to consumers.

The new intake will supplement the old 48-inch intake which has connected the Flint River system and the Chattachoochee river, but the latter will be held in reserve to meet possible emergencies and the natural growth of Atlanta.

A new connecting main is laid under the bed of Peachtree creek, a task which required the blasting of a bed through a 100-foot stretch of solid rock.

In hot, summer months the old intake was incapable of drawing enough water to meet the demand, but with the added intake capacity no shortage of water is expected, although additional pumping facilities are needed, Mr. Ashley said.

Other officers elected follow: T. M. Willingham, of Macon, first vice president; R. C. Morrison, of Atlanta, second vice president. The new president is to appoint the secretary-treasurer later.

The Roll-Royce automobile owned by W. D. Manley, former head of the Bankers' Trust, was sold at auction by Mr. Dodd for $5,200, the purchaser being D. C. Burrell, of New York.

The machine, which was in custody of J. D. Alexander, receiver for the Mayne estate, originally cost $12,500. Bidding started at $1,500.

Mr. Manley's trial in Fulton superior court on one of a series of indictments charging larceny after trust as the result of the investigation of the Bankers' Trust company failure, will begin.

The proposed stretches are: Burns drive, Sylvan road to 3,000 feet, 3,212 square yards; Andes drive,

Mosby Ferry drive to the city center, opposite the Governor's mansion, 1,210 square yards; Parsons street, Ellington, 1,251 square yards; Lee street, Green's Ferry avenue to Cal street, 1,381 square yards; Dahlberg street, Fletcher to University drive, 1,601 square yards; Paine's avenue, Bankhead to Simpson street, 8,212 square yards; Old Wheat street, Auburn avenue to Fort, 5,265 square yards.

Recommendations of the street committee are subject to final ratification by city council.

Is Buying Bread Still Guess-Work With You?

...the softness of bread is no guarantee of its freshness

Most housewives believe that unless a loaf of bread feels soft, it is not fresh. This is a false impression, because some breads, on account of a lack of proper mixing, proving and baking, always feel soft and spongy, whether fresh or not. This is not so with Merita Bread, because Merita, with its properly balanced ingredients and scientific mixing, proving and baking, is firm from the time it comes out of the oven—and the freshness is guaranteed.

So remember when buying bread, all you need do is ask for "Merita"—and you are assured of its always being fresh.

FIVE NEW ROGERS STORES TO OPEN

Negro Rejoices As Death Chair Shadow Lifts

Little Rock, Ark., November 5.—"Bless God, white folks—I am ready to go!" The shout came from the Arkansas prison cell of George Alexander, negro, condemned to die today for the murder of Nelson Watson, "conjurer" of his own race, in an automobile accident last summer. He was struck by an automobile and was so severely injured he retired from the race for governor.

AUGUSTA LUMBERMAN HEADS GEORGIA BODY

W. Cecil Neill, of Columbus, speaker of the house of representatives of Georgia, who has been in office for the past six years, will not be a candidate for reelection to that post, he announced in Atlanta Friday.

Speaker Neill was reelected a representative from Muscogee county in the legislature here, and this is the first time Atlanta since he was injured in an automobile accident last summer. He was struck by an automobile and was so severely injured he retired from the race for governor.

"All right, Cap'n, good mawn', Cap'n," he mumbled as the key rattled in the death cell door.

The Cap'n was Clifton Evans, lumberman, who was benefiting the black slayer's last will and testament.

He brought the news that the governor had commuted the death sentence. George would not be strapped into the chair.

Evans' frantic pleading succeeded the resignation with which the condemned negro had awaited his end.

"God bless everybody," he yelled, and his joyful cry echoed through the gray stone prison. "God bless everybody—just somebody!"

His first words were to be rid of his death suit, and he scrambled quickly into the regulation garb of stripes.

WARE IS EXPECTED TO FIGHT OUSTER

SPY SYSTEM CHARGED IN CHOIR MURDERS

brothers, Henry and "Willie," were obviously slain.

James Mills recited again his version of the mystery—told with the same helpless, bewildered air which has been characteristic of his attitude towards that affair from the start. He will tell his story again with his wife before she left to keep her rendezvous with the rector and with death, which, unknown to the lovers, lurked in the shadows of Phillips farm.

After accounting for his own actions on the night of the crime the janitor told of encountering Mrs. Hall in the slain rector's study the next morning.

Meets Mrs. Hall.

"She said, 'Good morning, Mr. Mills. Is there any sickness at your house?'" the witness recited. "When I said there was not, she said, 'Mr. Hall hasn't come home all night,' and said, 'My wife hasn't come home either.' Then I said, 'Maybe they're' told, and she said, 'No, there's been a casualty.'"

Senator Simpson then asked the witness if he had not thought it strange that Mrs. Hall should say that.

"No, I don't think so," replied Mills, rather vaguely.

It was on a cross-examination of the witness that the defense for one of the few times thus far in the case developed the fight may change its character. Thus far senators opposing Vare have contemplated an attempt to oust him on the ground of primary expenditures but if a case involving the election is brought, it will simplify procedure.

The white house said that President Coolidge intends to take no part in the matter regarding it as a question for the senate to decide.

Meanwhile a civic committee in Philadelphia is searching for evidence that the contest in the Pennsylvania election was fraudulent. If this phase of the case is developed the fight may change its character. Thus far senators opposing Vare have contemplated an attempt to oust him on the ground of primary expenditures but if a case involving the election is brought, it will simplify procedure.

The white house said that President Coolidge intends to take no part in the matter regarding it as a question for the senate to decide.

HEFLIN WILL OPPOSE VARE-SMITH SEATING.

Montgomery, Ala., November 5.—(AP)—Declaring that the "stench and corruption" in the senatorial primaries in Pennsylvania and Illinois "has turned the stomach of the honest electorate of the country," Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, announced here tonight that he would oppose the seating of both Vare and Smith in the senate.

"I opposed the confirmation of Newberry, of Michigan," said Senator Heflin, "but it appears that Newberry was a mere piker compared with the two who are being seated." He added.

Senator Simpson hopes to prove that Mrs. Hall carried them to Phillips farm and scattered them about the bodies after the killings.

Mills denied emphatically having seen the letters, though he had said he could recall of hearing of the meeting at a previous meeting, which was conducted privately by Ellis Parker, a detective. It is the contention of the state that this Parker was hired by Henry Stevens to attempt to fasten guilt for the crime upon Mills.

The janitor's memory was so unreliable, and he so frequently backed down before the persistence of McCarter that Senator Simpson's perky little face wore a look of disquiet when the witness finally left the stand.

McCarter switched to Mills' movements after the crime and before its discovery. He drew from the witness admission that he had made no effort to inquire of the police or hospitals for his wife when she failed to return home.

"Why did you say to Mrs. Hall 'perhaps they've eloped?' asked the lawyer.

"To know your wife went frequently to the church at odd times?"

"Yes."

"No."

McCarter then asked Mills if he remembered saying in the presence of Detective Parker and a stenographer, concerning his last words with his wife:

Denies Jealousy.

"She said something about jealous over Hall, and I made a hell of a house for her and told her she wasn't that kind of a woman."

The witness added having said that. He denied that his last words with his wife had included the following familiar conversation:

"Where are you going?"

"Follow me and see."

"No."

McCarter then asked Mills if he remembered saying in the presence of Detective Parker and a stenographer, concerning his last words with his wife:

Memory Fails.

Ank when Simpson would have used Mills' recollection of the Ellis Parker interview to accuse Henry Stevens, the witness' memory failed him completely and he looked helplessly at the prosecutor until the latter threw up his hands in despair and said:

"I can't remember all."

Mrs. Mary Damaress was on the stand only a few minutes, but her testimony was regarded as of great importance by state and defense. "Were you in New Brunswick Friday, September 15, 1922?" asked Simpson.

"Yes."

"Is anyone you knew?"

"I was getting off a trolley car and there was an automobile stopped behind us and I looked and saw Henry Stevens in it."

The cross examination Senator Case attempted to bring out that Mrs. Mills had not seen Henry Stevens for years, but was interrupted by the adjournment.

"State whether you passed through Bucknell park in May, 1922?" directed Simpson.

"Did I? And I saw Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills sitting on a bench. And I saw Ralph Grosline and Minna Clark some distance behind them, watching Stevens in it."

A week later, she said, she saw the performance repeated.

Simpson announced he would show the witness and Minna Clark carried their information to the accused widow, and that it was this which led eventually to the murders at Phillips farm the following autumn.

While McCarter battered at Mills, trying to make the janitor reveal him self a perjuror, if not a murderer, the audience took surreptitious naps. At one point, the prosecutor, State Senator Alexander Simpson, completely lost patience. "This defense is trying to make him the murderer!"

WITNESS RELATES DEATH THREATS

Dayton Ground Is Broken :: DREAM OF COMMONER'S ADMIRERS TAKING SHAPE :: For Bryan Memorial

Birmingham, Ala., November 5.—(AP)—Charles R. Davis, former convict warden charged with slaying James W. Knox, a convict at Flat Top mine today, offered to testify in the defense of a stranger who is alleged to have attempted to "fix" witnesses of the defense in the trial of Davis which entered its fifth day. The defense was aroused by the report of witness "fixing" and strenuously denied that such a condition existed.

The attorney of Wiles Pugh, star witness for the state who told the details of the death of Knox, was partly corroborated by Artemus Fletcher, negro convict, who said he witnessed the ducking of Knox from a "dog house" in which he was confined in a branch discipline camp. He said he had been told by a white man in the courthouse, "all you niggers implicated in this case had better pack your clothes and get out," the court ordered the arrest of the man if he could be found.

Pugh testified that Knox died while undergoing punishment in the laundry vat.

Fletcher disclosed that he had been threatened with death by fellow convicts if he testified in favor of Davis.

He also said he had been told by a white man in the courthouse, "all you niggers implicated in this case had better pack your clothes and get out," the court ordered the arrest of the man if he could be found.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

No more disgraceful and shocking
story of student hoodlumism has ever been recorded in sane and conservative America than that coming out of Boston involving a mob of several hundred freshmen of the famous and worthy old Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
Demanding admittance to the annual sophomore banquet, the riot began with the liberal use of gas and explosive bombs, the wrecking of valuable property, the destruction of automobiles, the waylaying and holding up of a train, the crushing and maiming of innocent people, and other acts of crazed stampedes that would reflect compounded discredit upon a mob of Chicago or Boston professional gangsters. Was "bad booze" at the bottom of it? Of course!It is unthinkable that sensible young men, whose morals and intellectuals had not been seared by
"white lightning" or "mule kick"
or some other of the cheap and poisonous "home brews" that strew human wreckage along its flowing channels, could possibly be guilty of such malicious infractions of every rule of common decency.In the news dispatches of the same day we find that agents of the United States prohibition enforcement bureau are working under cover among the colleges and universities of the middle west to determine the sources of supply that is partially demoralizing the student bodies of a number of institutions in that territory, this action
following the expulsion of 12 University of Illinois boys for drinking and gambling.The drinking problem is today
the most serious and the most menacing one confronting America's educational institutions. It is not confined to the male institutions, nor even to the boys and girls of the coeducational institutions. It is a problem in many of the exclusive female schools. It is a problem even in the junior colleges, and in the city high schools—as little as we may think that is true.The problem of whisky drinking and especially the drinking of the poison that is now masqueraded
under that name—among college boys and girls, and among young people generally, is entirely too serious to be temporized with. It touches too deep at the sanctity of the home, at the hearthstones of young couples who become maimed under influences of inebriacy, to admit of light treatment, or of the slightest indifference. It must be met, and it must be solved.The only course open now is one of drastic action on the part of school administrations combined with the cooperation of the sober element in student bodies that want to acquire education and build character under conducive environments. Every school in America should make expulsion, without recourse, the penalty of drinking. The sources of student supply should be dealt with more than usual penalty, for not only does the bootlegger who sells to a minor violate the prohibition statutes, but he violates another and a more serious statute by promoting that which leads to character destruction and to human dereliction.There can be no middle ground in this problem. It must be met and it can be if iron hands guide every school in America with a fixed and immovable will to meet it.

PINE BELT CONFERENCES.

The Pine Institute of America,
organized in Florida several years ago for the purpose of conserving the pine lumber supply, the utilization of wastes, the betterment of the naval stores industry, etc., has just announced a series of regional conferences to study trade condi-tions, the problems and remedies in a practical way. These conferences are to be held in Georgia, Florida and Mississippi.In Georgia they will be held at Bainbridge on November 9, with A.
S. Carr, chairman; at Valdosta on November 13, with E. P. Rose, chairman, and at Brunswick on November 16, with W. C. Vereen, chairman.The value and success of the annual get-together conference has made it a permanent institution. It is clear that regional conferences of operators and land owners interested in the turpentine and rosin trade will also be of immense practical value if held at convenient places.The idea of these conferences is developed necessarily upon closer cooperation. This is essential in all lines of successful endeavor, whether of an economic or social nature. The Pine Institute of America is to be warmly commended for its foresight and progress.

WHOLE BELT MUST ACT.

The Georgia cotton acreage reduction committee, in session in Macon, adopted a "safe farming system" in which is included a drastic reduction in acreage, the latter to be practically forced through the cooperation of banks and credit agencies in each county. All of which sounds good—and is good regardless of what other states in the cotton belt may do. But, getting down to brass tacks, what possible effect can an acreage reduction in Georgia have upon the total 1927 yield, if Texas, New Mexico,
Arizona, Oklahoma and California are going to more than make up the reduction in the southeast by their usual yearly acreage increases?What we are after, in addition to impressing our farmers with the economic wisdom—and indeed necessity—for making cotton purely a surplus, is to so organize a cotton acreage reduction program throughout the entire belt, from Carolina to California, as to assume a smaller gross ginner's yield in 1927, and so put the consuming world on notice right now that the prices of the present crop—and that is the shoe that is pinching—will force a hen to lay eggs until she gets in the nest.The Stay-At-Home Man.
(From "Poems by J. W. H.")I
He stayed in the shadows
And called life a poor joke,
Of things bright and happy
He never spoke;

He daily grew grouch;

And said 'twas a shame

To have to live lonely—

But was he to blame,

When his wife was away

For the summer.

III.

There is more of darkness,

He said, than of light:

He talked of life's burdens

From morning till night,

Till every one called him

A growler. Fate,

With me full of malice

And heart full of hate—

For his wife was away

For the summer.

IV.

But later, like sunshine

He came from above,

His heart held the presence

Of goodness and love;

Like splendor of morning

When night-shadows break,

Was the rapture that filled him

For one woman's sake—

For his wife had come home

For the winter.

"My Life Story"

61ST INSTALLMENT.

My bedroom! I started something when I advertised my apartment "To Let" just before I sailed for Europe with Natacha.

"What did it look like?" wrote so many, many fans.

I suppose I must oblige. It seems that there is nothing that is sacred or private for a public player.

Sumptuous? That is for you to judge.

"Give me a word picture of the very bed you sleep in!"

And here is what extract from one of the letters. It sounds perfectly silly to a staid grown-up. Really, I am staid and grown-up. But about me has been woven romance with a capital R.

"Soul of Romance."

Romance is a serious business in the life of Miss Sweet Shylock. She is sitting around waiting for her moment when he will come along. Her own Prince Charming. And so many think I am the soul of romance and love.

All this began by my inserting in a paper a perfectly ordinary little advertisement which I thought might like another similar advertisement.

To begin with, our apartment was at 50 West Sixty-seventh street. It was a lovely, though small, apartment and I paid a rent of $200 a month.

It was indeed a very cozy place with beds, chairs, 'n' everything, but no goldfish.

As soon as I had advertised the place for rent, then the fun began.

BAD BREATH PLEASANTLY RELIEVED

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—the pleasant way to pleasant breath

Unpleasant breath, pimples, sal- low skin, hollow cheeks, circles under the eyes and spots before them—these are a few of the warning signs of constipation. Defeat them with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Constipation need never forty serious diseases. Back from the intestines it sends its hideous poisons to torment you and to wreck your health. It can ruin your appearance. Don't neglect it.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN because they know that only ALL-BRAN—100% bran—brings sure results. If eaten regularly it brings permanent relief in the most stubborn cases; it is guaranteed to do so or your grocer returns the purchase price.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Eat two tablespoonsfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Fine in cooking too. Try the recipes on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan, and is served in leading restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

SCRATCHED ITCHING SKIN UNTIL IT BLED

Believed at once by a simple treatment

Evens City, Pa., April 2:—"Some time ago I had a bad case of eczema and vine poisoning. At times I scratched my skin until the blood ran. Then our family doctor advised me to use Resinol Soap and Ointment. I obtained relief at once and before long never smooth skin had taken the place of the old sores. If Resinol should cost me twice as much I would never be without it as I do not think there is a soap or ointment on the market their equal, and it seems to me I have tried almost all of them." Resinol Soap is most refreshing and pleasant to use, and Resinol Ointment has a quick healing power. I have recommended these products to many people and expect to continue to do so." (Signed) E. J. Worked With Wild Bull.
My toroado costume weighs with its embroidery, about fifty pounds and six thousand feet of silk thread. For the time I was doing it, working with a dangerous bull I needed every ounce of strength and all the rest possible.

Mr. Clark, the manager of the company at that time, told me that I had no business to protest in public, and that it was against the rules of the competition, and "against its discipline."

But there was no rule, it seemed, against my being compelled to disrobe in public.

And my second reaction—but Natacha calls it and I will forgo setting down my feelings on that until tomorrow.

The Charleroi Design —in Sterling Silver

Very graceful in line . . . beauty in every detail . . . exquisite ornamentation, the Charleroi design in Sterling Silver is receiving the praise of everyone who has a keen sense of artistic beauty.

The Charleroi is one of the number of distinctive designs now on display. Shown in complete dinner service, tea set, tray, goblets, water pitcher, waiter, flower-centerpiece, candlesticks and other interesting pieces. Appropriate wedding gifts.

JEWELRY AUCTION LAW IS ENJOINED

A temporary injunction restraining the city of Atlanta and approximately 25 retail jewelers from taking steps to prosecute Benjamin Klein and Michael Ellman, jewelry auctioneers, for selling their wares after 6 o'clock in accordance with the city ordinance passed last Monday by city council was granted Friday by Judge Edgar E. Pomroy in Fulton superior court.

The auctioneers had sought a injunction against Nat Ulman, Donald E. Druckenmiller, J. W. Boone, Henry Meunch, Myron E. Freeman, E. A. Morgan, Claude S. Bennett, J. J. Bookout, G. T. McMurphy, John Sheet, Fred Schell, F. E. West, A. B. Johnson, J. M. Durham, Richard C. Schneider, Rudolph Schneider, Ernest B. Durham, Abraham Holzman, Emma Holzman, J. Oren Daniel, William Dodson, Israel H. Silverman, George Daniel and the city of Atlanta.

Judge Pomroy issued the injunction to prevent the auctioneers from causing a permanent injunction to be granted.

"But you are wrong," Natacha commends as I read to her what I have set down. "It isn't an ordinary bedroom,

but a room where I could never have,

if ever, a room of any cultured, wealthy gentleman. Just an ordinary bedroom."

"What is pretty compliment especially when it comes from the one woman you love—your wife!"

More mail!

And it begs for more details of my command that Famous Players-Lasky corporation tried "to discipline me."

Charles Elyton was formerly a promoter of prize fights and later became manager of a theater in Los Angeles, in which one of the executives of Famous Players-Lasky corporation has his office. He subsequently became general manager of the west coast studio of that company.

Mr. Elyton is a man of very domineering manner, who believes in "bullying first" and "reasoning later," if at all.

Suggestions Turned Down.

I never made a single suggestion to Mr. Elyton during the entire making of "Blood and Sand" that was received agreeably by him, no matter how trivial or how fair it might be. He would always bluster and show right and wrong.

At the West Coast studio where the picture was made, there are two classes of dressing rooms, those for the stars, that are of comfortable size and comfortably furnished, and have convenient sanitary facilities, and those provided for the actors and actresses who have less arduous work to do, that are small, ill-furnished and have no proper accommodations otherwise.

I had been located in one of the smaller dressing rooms because I "was a late comer," and was informed by Mr. Elyton that the stars' dressing rooms were all filled, but as a matter of cold fact they were not all filled, and there were stars dressing rooms available, although I then did not know this.

The building in which my dressing room was located did not possess a toilet. When I found it impossible to get an adequate dressing room I asked if I might place therein a couch on which to rest, or at least a long sitting chair.

This was refused with scant courtesy on the ground that there were too few rooms, which was distinctly untrue. When I was not acting on the stage I was compelled to remain in the dressing room of some more fortunate player who had a couch, or had the alternative of putting a coat on the concrete floor of my own dressing room and using it as a pillow and lying on the stone floor until I was again called.

Tears Costume.

By doing this with the skintight costume that I was wearing, and not allowed to take off while resting, several rips or tears would occur, causing a delay until the stars were secured, reported by Mr. Elyton for the stars and other trivial matters that were not my fault. Among them was a reprimand for appearing with a rip in my collar caused wholly by my being compelled to lie down on the floor of my room.

Has to Dress in Auto.

During the period of the taking of the scenes of the bull fight at the Lasky ranch under a scorching sun and during a windy, dusty day, I was compelled to make as many as eight changes during the day. No dressing room, sanitation, water, etc., were provided for me at all. I requested that a small dressing room be built for me at trifling cost, near where the scenes were being shot. This was refused. I was compelled to make changes in an open touring car.

After three days of this arduous work I told the manager of the company that it was shameful that I should be treated in this manner and make my changes in full view of every one.

Atlanta and Panama City Pledge Full Cooperation For Mutual Development

Delegation From Florida City Entertained Friday by Presidents' Club With Banquet at Biltmore.

Joining hands across a banquet board at the Biltmore hotel Friday night, Atlanta, Georgia, and Panama City, Florida, through representative citizens, entered into a contract to the Gulf: Atlanta and the north with the Gulf, Isthmus of Panama and the Pacific on the south in one of the world's new trade channels. The dinner was tendered a Panama City delegation by the President's club of Atlanta.

Panama City's delegation came to repay a call made on that place last July by members of the Ten club of Atlanta. They represented their chamber of commerce and other organizations and after presenting the President's club and the Ten club with loving cups, sailboats, Satsuma oranges and many felicitations of good will received a formal and unanimous copy of resolutions of thanks from the Ten club and the assurance that Atlanta will cooperate in the improvement of transportation facilities between the two cities.

One tangible result of the arrangement made by G. T. Airey, vice president of the Central of Georgia railroad, that improved passenger schedules between Atlanta and Panama City will be established as early as details can be completed, which will provide a through car from Atlanta to the Gulf port to leave here at midnight and reach there at noon.

Trade Opportunities.

Mell W. Wilkinson, perpetual president of the President's club, presided with Col. Frederick J. Stetson, adjutant and chief of staff of the entertainment maneuvers. Numerous witty passages were flung back and forth by this amiable pair and they kept up a lively fire of repartee which provided much entertainment for the visiting delegation and the local guests of the organization.

Speakers told of the vast undeveloped possibilities of the port at Panama City, on St. Andrews Bay, 100 miles closer to the Isthmus of Panama, than any other port. They spoke of Atlanta's unlimited agricultural possibilities of the Panama City section agriculturally and industrially and spoke of the beauties of the Florida city and its wonders as a summer and winter resort.

Atlanta's famous "spirit" came in for admiration from the Florida delegation who pronounced the progress and development of Atlanta to be "the admiration of the world."

Presents Ship.

Walter C. Sherman, of Panama City, presented the Ten club with a small sailing ship "as a symbol of transportation" and it was accepted for the club by Judge Samuel L. Sibley.

W. L. Wilson explained the agricultural possibilities of the Panama City section and spoke about the development of the Satsuma orange industry. R. L. McKenzie, vice president of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce, told of the remarkable growth of Panama City since its incorporation in 1912. It is now the third largest city in the state, having passed the 100,000 mark in population. The railroad which linked Atlanta with the gulf town and said the name "Panama City" was suggested at a conference held in a law office here.

Parchment Resolutions.

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech and member of the Ten club, presented the visitors with resolutions written on parchment, expressing the view that Panama City was seen by the Ten club on their recent visit as a natural port for Atlanta on the gulf and pledging cooperation in its development.

Judge Arthur G. Dasher spoke of the growth of Panama City and presented one by one the members of the delegation from that city who are in Atlanta on the present tour.

Advantages of St. Andrews bay as a port were outlined by J. H. Dameron, who represented the Atlanta Trade club with a large chart showing the trade routes out of the harbor to all parts of the world.

Silver Loving Cup.

Fred Phillips, secretary of the Panama City section, and his wife, Mrs. Annie Phillips, who accompanied him, spoke of his organization who told of various phases of the town's progress and pointed out its advantages for future expansion.

Sam Brownie, president of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce, made a short speech, expressing the value of the proposed closer relations between the two young men alluded to in the first paragraph, and arrested the quiet.

They will be tried this afternoon in police court.

HIGHWAY PAVING CONTRACT IS LET

The state highway board, in an open meeting Friday, let the contract for paving the state highway between Lawrenceville and Decatur to Sam R. Finley, of Atlanta, whose bid was $182,192.10 for the construction work.

The distance of five miles will be laid over with a 3-8 penetration Macadam surface, and will be finished by Christmas, it is said, completing a paved stretch from Lawrenceville to the DeKalb county line. The roadbed has already been prepared by the county to receive the Macadam surface.

Another contract was let at the meeting Friday to lay a clay gravel surface on about two miles of the Coastal highway at the Florida line, where the interstate bridge has recently been completed over St. Marys River. The bridge and approaches have been completed.

FOUR CHARGED WITH OPERATION OF 'BADGER GAME'

The names of two young men were added to the roll of the Atlanta chapter of the Sudder and Wiser association Friday night by virtue of a public hearing where they admitted to the desk sergeant and which resulted in the arrest of two men and an equal number of women, the latter "young and pretty," on charges of operating a badger game.

The badger game, if you don't know it, is where a lady tells a stranger that her husband is in jail, Demopolis, Ala., or somewhere. But,

Many wires were cut in fighting the blaze and the business district is without electricity tonight. A fireman was injured.

C. W. Nelson, 25, of 137 Oliver street, whom police say gave his name once before, when arrested as Vernon Cappa, who subsequently admitted he was a police officer from police station after being sentenced to 30 days in the stockade, was one of those arrested.

The other three included Mr. and Mrs. Annie Mae Cappa, 23, and Sam Brownie, president of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce, made a short speech, expressing the value of the proposed closer relations between the two young men alluded to in the first paragraph, and arrested the quiet.

They will be tried this afternoon in police court.

Peps vs. T. N. T.

The Pep class and the T. N. T. class of the Baptist Tabernacle will engage in a church basement audit on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock on the subject "Resolved: That the hope for reward is a greater incentive to do good than the fear of punishment."

"What's the best check protector?" "A fountain pen that won't write."

Fire Aid Sent Natchez, Miss. Saves Town

Natchez, Miss., November 5.—(AP) Widespread terror was caused in Natchez today by a fire which, after causing havoc in the business district, threatened to level the town. Damage was estimated at $750,000.

The brunt of the loss was suffered by owners of the Natchez hotel, a five-story structure, covering half of a square, which was destroyed. Guests avoided injury by using the fire escapes after the stairways and elevator shafts were enveloped in flames.

Blazes caused in various parts of Natchez by ember blown for nearly a mile, threatened for a time to destroy residences. Arrival of the Ferry, La., fire department saved these homes. The Ferry firemen conquered the scattered fires, while the Natchez force concentrated on the business section.

The hotel building was valued at approximately $600,000. A $250,000 annex opened only a couple of weeks ago, was only slightly damaged. The furnishings burned were worth approximately $100,000.

Buildings razed near the hotel housed an office equipment company, a telephone company, the Southern Bell Telephone company, a barber shop, two insurance companies, a real estate office and a restaurant.

Many wires were cut in fighting the blaze and the business district is without electricity tonight.

A fireman was injured.

MARIETTA INSTALLS G. B. GANN AS MAYOR

Marietta, Ga., November 5.—(Special)—Gordon B. Gann, Marietta attorney, was installed as mayor here yesterday following his election Wednesday to succeed E. R. Hunt, resigned.

In a spirited campaign Wednesday Gann was elected mayor by a vote of 390 over T. W. Read, who received 280 votes.

Gann is serving his third term as head of the local government. Hunt was installed mayor last January, but recently resigned after entering business in Alabama. He succeeded Gann.

Gann's former administrator, featured by much constructive work in the city, the main streets being paved, modern fire department equipment being installed, a sewer system completed and a 1,000,000-gallon water tank was built.

Tech Cross Country Team Beats Clemson

BY JULIEN SAKS.

Clemson College, November 5.—The Tech cross-country team defeated Clemson, 23 to 32, in a dual meet Friday afternoon. Roy Brewer outstepped the entire Clemson team, winning first place and covering the three and a half miles in 18 minutes and 13 seconds.

Cannon, Clemson, outstripped

Wright, of Tech, for second place.

McLeod, of Clemson, took fourth.

Williams and Morgan, both of Tech,

placed fifth and sixth, respectively.

Wilson, Clemson; Peacock, Tech; Andrews, Clemson; Spencer, Clemson, finished in the order mentioned. The race was hotly contested throughout.

Members of each team were constantly running and repassing each other and fighting toward the front due to one Roy Brewer, who jumped in the lead at the start.

The pace was fast and furious all the way. Four new men on Tech's team, Brewer, Williams, Morgan and Peacock, running their first varsity race, doing exceptionally well. Usually a man doing his first race is very likely to be thrown on his face,

but these men performed like old-timers. This is Tech's first meet

Clemson's second. Last week the Clemson team journeyed to Athens

and surprised the Bulldogs by handing them a decisive defeat. The score

does not indicate the true strength of the Clemson Tigers, who have one of the best teams in the conference. Although defeated by Tech, Clemson is going to be one of the strongest considers at the Southern conference

meet to be held in Athens on November 20.

1926 MEETING OF S. I. C. SET FOR DEC. 2, 3, 4

Jacksonville, Fla., November 5.—(P)—The annual meeting of the Southern Conference, major athletic organization of southern institutions and the annual conference of football coaches of the entire south, will be held here December 2, 3, 4. Everett L. Yon, director of athletics of the University of Florida, announced today. The meetings originally were scheduled for Gainesville.

Milwaukee, Wis., November 5.—(P)—Interscholastic competition among high school girls in Wisconsin has been banned as detrimental to their moral and physical welfare, by the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association.

The association declared a halt in competition between several girls high school teams. After its accompanying interscholastic competition had been cited, improper chaperoning, lax moral discipline on trips to other cities and the strain of excited competition were declared to be the worst evils.

BIG CRIMSON GIVEN EDGE OVER TIGER

Jacksonville, Fla., November 5.—(P)—The annual meeting of the Southern Conference, major athletic organization of southern institutions and the annual conference of football coaches of the entire south, will be held here December 2, 3, 4. Everett L. Yon, director of athletics of the University of Florida, announced today. The meetings originally were scheduled for Gainesville.

New York, November 5.—(P)—The battle of the Tiger and Crimson, holds the nation in suspense in the grid sector tomorrow. Most of the other contenders for eastern honors, among them eight unbeaten arrays, will take matters rather easy in anticipation of harder closings.

Harvard becomes at an astonishing pace under the coaching of Armin Waugh. Successive triumphant William & Mary, Dartmouth and Tufts after defeats at the hands of Geneva and Holy Cross have demonstrated Horween's unusual progress and revealed a well-balanced versatile combination.

Princeton, on the other hand, tasted defeat at the hands of the Navy and was tied by Washington & Lee, besides barely beating Amherst and Lehigh.

The Tiger has been handicapped by injuries and shake-ups. The team's development has been slow, but it is now coming along steadily for the big tests with Harvard and Yale.

Other ancient foes found their feuds tomorrow are Pennsylvania and Penn State, West Virginia and Pittsburgh, Wesleyan and Williams, Fordham and Holy Cross.

Penn State, still in the running for the eastern title since the only

Quaker defeat was handed out by

Illinois, is favored to triumph over the Nittany Lions, who have not measured up to their former high standards so far.

In their game with G. M. A. Friday at Spiller's, Tech

High was outplayed in every branch of the game except in quarterbacks, but in this branch Tech High was just one touchdown better and that was the margin of victory.

This is not meant to mean that Booth, of G. M. A., is not a good quarterback. The stocky little bruttoff of the Cadets is a hard-hitting plunder-piece, but he does not attempt to run the ends and does not possess the speed of the little Smithie.

Hunsinger seems to be the entire backfield on the U.

S. B. outfit, and judging from the way the University lads trampled the Boys' High aggregation, Hunsinger has done a good job of taping the ball.

The game Friday was something of a "hard luck" fracas for the Cadets. They outgained their opponents by a margin of almost three to one on first downs and the work of their forward wall was much better than that of the Smithies, but Waugh was the margin.

The little quarterback got loose in the third quarter and ran 70 yards for a touchdown through the whole field and anyone who says Armin Waugh cannot run has not tried to catch him when he is carrying a football.

In addition to this feat, Waugh broke around the Cadet ends time after time for substantial gains and placed the ball in position to score the first counter in the initial period. Armin also threw the passes.

Yes—Hunsinger and his 10 assistants may play Waugh and his 10

helpers for the city prep championship and, if this does happen, a great football game is in prospect. University should win, judging from the form displayed by the two schools in the games to date.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

We Pick Tech Again.

This is a day of great possibilities in the Southern conference. Tech, Georgia, Vanderbilt, Auburn, Alabama and Kentucky are six of the most interesting possibilities.

For these, Alabama is the only unbeaten team, and for that reason the Crimson Tide-Wildcat game takes on an aspect of vast importance. There are three other teams in the conference who would profit greatly by an upset defeat for Alabama at the hands of the Kentuckians.

Tech, Georgia and Vanderbilt all have one defeat to their credit and if the Kentuckians could level the Tide it would be a great race.

We firmly believe that Tech will win from Vanderbilt to-day and Georgia should beat Auburn. If that is true, Tech and Georgia will be the chief contenders along with Alabama, provided Kentucky can beat the Tuscaloosa outfit.

In all probability we are alone in the contention, but we believe that Kentucky has a good chance to do what five other conference teams have failed to do—upset the Crimson Tide. Call it a hunch or what you like, but we believe that Kentucky is a better football team than they are credited with being and they have been able to point for the Alabama game. That is something.

Paul Warwick, formerly sporting editor of The Constitution and now associated with the Eastman, Scott & Co. advertising agency, will cover the Georgia-Auburn game for The Constitution and to those who were familiar with the writings of Paul during his regime as sports editor it is needless to say that the annual battle at Columbus will be competently and colorfully pictured in this newspaper Sunday.

Jackets and Commodores Primed for Battle Today

25 Kentucky Wildcats Leave For Slagtown

Louisville, Ky., November 5.—(P)—With their full-grown wildcat "sealing red," 25 grididers from the University of Kentucky were on their way today to Birmingham in hopes of turning back the mighty Crimson Tide of Alabama, Saturday.

Centre warriors took the opposite direction going to Michigan where they battle with the Michigan Aggies, while Kentucky Wesleyan rides to Virginia to tryst with Emory and Henry.

The University of Louisville will act as host to Western Kentucky Normal, while Georgetown, home to the expense of Maryville, Transylvania and Ogden college offer the other state battle.

The 25 Kentucky warriors who went south are determined to stop the victorious team of Alabama. The team emerged from the P. L. slate in good condition and all the men are primed for the battle. They say only superior line work on the part of the "Bama" warriors will win the game.

Tonight a special train bearing a number of students, a 55-piece band, and Kentucky's famous mascot, that attracted so much attention on its last visit to Alabama, will leave for Birmingham. The cat will lead a parade through Birmingham streets Saturday morning. The P. L. team's victory of 1922 are lingered on the minds of the Kentuckians, who hope they can duplicate the feat again. With the "dope" against them the Wildcats turn back the Tide then.

Centre after their victory over Louisville have high hopes of avenging their defeat of last year. The hands of the Michigan Aggies, three regulars, kept out last Saturday by injuries, will get the call tomorrow.

Louisville with two straight defeats marring their record of eleven straight victories are determined to keep their slate clean this year. The new Coach King was ready to lead his team since the loss of Captain Daugherty and announced he is ready for the Teachers, who tied Centre and walloped Kentucky Wesleyan 22 to 0.

Georgetown, Transylvania and Kentucky Wesleyan are expected to bring home victories.

FAIR STAR WINS $60,000 PIMLICO RACE

Baltimore, Md., November 5.—(P)—Fair Star, William Dupont's Fox Catcher Farms filly, confounded the talent on old Hilltop today to make the Pimlico futurity, richest of the season's eastern track stakes, and Bonne, Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Scapie, flew from the leadership of the two-year-old money winners. Running the mile in 1:40.35, to win by a nose, the West Coast jockey on Fair Star took down a purse of $50,000 for her Wilmington, Del., owner, including a $4,000 award to her Maryland breeding. Fair Star was bred at William Woodward's Belair Stud.

Jopagan netted $5,000 for his personal best, while Jockey P. J. O'Kerry, who came far back to take show money of $2,500, left fourth place to his stablemate, Bostonian. Fourth money amounted to $1,000.

E. B. McClellan's Jock, the favorite, found his early pacemaking efforts a bit too much for him on the turn for home, and was passed by Fair Star, while Bourassa up on Fair Star, saved ground via the rail on the home turn and took command, but had to ride his mount to the last ounce to keep the head advantage over Jopagan, which came down the stretch at express train speed.

Fair Star brought her season's winnings to $88,315. She took the $23,000 Selma stakes at Laurel last week, also with Bourassa up. Today she paid her backers at the pari-mutuel booths handsomely, bringing $28.20 to win, $12.10 to place, and $6.00 to show on every $2 ticket.

WILL THESE BOYS HELP STOP THE COMMODORES?

Four strong breezes that will help make up the Golden Tornado to blow against the good ship Vanderbilt and its Commodores this afternoon on Grant field. Firpo Martin, varsity guard, is seen at the left top. Martin has been out of the lineup with a mean "charley horse" but is expected to fill his place as the Martin of old. Bob Horn, who will fill the shoes of Bob Parham at left halfback. Horn comes back to the lineup after being out with an injured hand. Captain Owen Pool, who returns to the big wind after suffering sometime with an injured shoulder, received early in the season, is shown at the lower left. Mack Tharpe, the old reliable tackle on the Golden Tornado, is shown at the lower right.

BOYS' HIGH PLAYS GORDON AT SPILLER'S

Boys' High will encounter the strong Gordon institute eleven at Spiller's this morning at 10 o'clock.

The Purple eleven is in a crippled condition to meet the Gordon squad, but Coach Doyal promises a good fight on the part of his boys. Duke Turner, captain and tackle of the Boys' High team, will be out of the game with a twisted ligament in his side, received in last week's scrap with University.

Shelby Coffey, Purple center, has a bad leg, and in all probability will not start the game. Reagin, first-string guard, is in bed with influenza, and McCalley, first substitute, has a broken rib and will not start.

The backfield is in the exception of Breezy Winn, hard-hitting fullback. Winn has been out for two weeks with a bad leg, and will most likely play a part of the game today.

Referee Controversy Remains Unsettled

Settlement of the referee controversy which has annoyed Promoter Contos for the past week cannot be reached for his Tuesday night match until some time Sunday. He stated this much Friday night, nor not until Sunday will Jimmy Londos reach the city.

Londos, incidentally, is one of the principals in the big final match that is scheduled to delight the public for two hours, or less, with Dick Daviscourt, massive Californian, on the other side of the fence.

Jim Started Fuss. It was Jimmy, the idol of the Greek populace, who first brought up the referee debate, during before he would sign with the University, which Daviscourt he would have to be assured he could bring his own official down here, or, failing in that, that Daviscourt be forced to post a forfeit guaranteeing that he would wrestle fairly and omit his rough tactics which have characterized most of his matches.

The back of the bill is the exception of Breezy Winn, hard-hitting fullback. Winn has been out for two weeks with a bad leg, and will most likely play a part of the game today.

TECH FROSH BEAT SEWANEE CUBS BY 42 TO 6

Cowan, Tenn., November 5.—(Specia)—The Tech freshmen that suffered an ignoble defeat at the hands of the first-year Floridians in Atlanta, avenged themselves this afternoon by swamping the Sewanee cubs with an avalanche of 42 points, while the homesteaders were content, by force, with six.

However, the score does not indicate the game. It was a hard-fought affair from beginning to end. The junior Techsters were just superior, Jim Weel, Jim D. Watkins, Otto, O'Dear, Watkins, Cassidy and Muse were the stellar lights along the line.

The schoolboy dream—that on the first day of school he would find the schoolhouse gone—was fulfilled for the pupils of the Slosson school, 30

PIRATIC fleet of Commodores is this morning anchored on the edge of a Golden Tornado and this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Grant field the two will meet. Sports writers give the Tornado the edge in this battle of element and humankind, but the little winds of gold don't feel that they have such an edge at that.

Not that they are not expecting to upset the rakish black fleet from Nashville, but they don't think it will be such a terribly easy job. In fact, they know it won't, and with this sort of maneuver among the zephyrs, the Commodore must maneuver with adroit skill to outskirt his enemy from the gods.

Friday afternoon the Commodores anchored at the Ansley hotel and from there sailed out to Grant flats later in the day for a light workout.

As the Techsters blew out of the stadium, the Commodores sailed in, and long after suppertime among the rustics there was an agitation somewhere down in the depths of rows of empty stands that sounded strangely to a group of moselekiners calling signals and shuffling about.

It was, for darkness had called all good people to their evening boards before the commodore mentor, the estimable Mr. McGugin, decided that his boys had stretched their muscles enough to permit returning to the hotel.

May Start Thrash.

There were strange happenings on Grant field while the breezes blew. And when it had progressed for a short time it became apparent that Coach Alexander might start Thrash and Lillard at right tackle and right guard respectively, instead of "Papa" Hood and young Mr. Drennon. Of course, it might have been another of those strategic gestures of Coach Alex, but the outlook is that these gentlemen will be in the beginning lineup.

There will be, as has been stated, several returned faces in the Tornado lineup. Among them will be Captain Owen Pool, Bob Horn at left halfback and Firpo Martin at left end.

Firpo's "charley horse" was the most severe that has been seen around these parts in many days. Pool got a badly hurt shoulder several weeks ago and has seen no action until he performed against the Notre Dame outfit. Horn has been out with injuries some time.

Choctaws Beat Panthers, 27-12

Clinton, Miss., November 5.—(P)—Getting off to a flying start with a dazzling running attack, the Choctaws, of Mississippi college, defeated Birmingham-Southern's Panthers, 27 to 12, here today. The Choctaws scored three touchdowns in the first quarter before their offensive attack was solved. During the second and third quarters the Panthers outplayed the Mississippi team shoving across two markers in the third frame. Both outfits attempted many forward passes in the last half.

Colonels Camped In East Lansing

East Lansing, Mich., November 5.—(P)—Center's Praying Colonels and the Michigan State football squad topped each other with a light practice in State stadium and tomorrow on the same ground will lock in inter-sectional combat.

Saturday will be home-coming day at Michigan State and thousands of alumni are expected to gather for the game. State squad was primed for a redeeming effort after an unimpressive showing this season.

25 Kentucky Wildcats Leave For Slagtown

Louisville, Ky., November 5.—(P)—With their full-grown wildcat "sealing red," 25 grididers from the University of Kentucky were on their way today to Birmingham in hopes of turning back the mighty Crimson Tide of Alabama, Saturday.

Centre warriors took the opposite direction going to Michigan where they battle with the Michigan Aggies, while Kentucky Wesleyan rides to Virginia to tryst with Emory and Henry.

The University of Louisville will act as host to Western Kentucky Normal, while Georgetown, home to the expense of Maryville, Transylvania and Ogden college offer the other state battle.

The 25 Kentucky warriors who went south are determined to stop the victorious team of Alabama. The team emerged from the P. L. slate in good condition and all the men are primed for the battle. They say only superior line work on the part of the "Bama" warriors will win the game.

Tonight a special train bearing a number of students, a 55-piece band, and Kentucky's famous mascot, that attracted so much attention on its last visit to Alabama, will leave for Birmingham. The cat will lead a parade through Birmingham streets Saturday morning. The P. L. team's victory of 1922 are lingered on the minds of the Kentuckians, who hope they can duplicate the feat again. With the "dope" against them the Wildcats turn back the Tide then.

Centre after their victory over Louisville have high hopes of avenging their defeat of last year. The hands of the Michigan Aggies, three regulars, kept out last Saturday by injuries, will get the call tomorrow.

Louisville with two straight defeats marring their record of eleven straight victories are determined to keep their slate clean this year. The new Coach King was ready to lead his team since the loss of Captain Daugherty and announced he is ready for the Teachers, who tied Centre and walloped Kentucky Wesleyan 22 to 0.

Georgetown, Transylvania and Kentucky Wesleyan are expected to bring home victories.

FAIR STAR WINS $60,000 PIMLICO RACE

Baltimore, Md., November 5.—(P)—Fair Star, William Dupont's Fox Catcher Farms filly, confounded the talent on old Hilltop today to make the Pimlico futurity, richest of the season's eastern track stakes, and Bonne, Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Scapie, flew from the leadership of the two-year-old money winners. Running the mile in 1:40.35, to win by a nose, the West Coast jockey on Fair Star took down a purse of $50,000 for her Wilmington, Del., owner, including a $4,000 award to her Maryland breeding. Fair Star was bred at William Woodward's Belair Stud.

Jopagan netted $5,000 for his personal best, while Jockey P. J. O'Kerry, who came far back to take show money of $2,500, left fourth place to his stablemate, Bostonian. Fourth money amounted to $1,000.

E. B. McClellan's Jock, the favorite, found his early pacemaking efforts a bit too much for him on the turn for home, and was passed by Fair Star, while Bourassa up on Fair Star, saved ground via the rail on the home turn and took command, but had to ride his mount to the last ounce to keep the head advantage over Jopagan, which came down the stretch at express train speed.

Fair Star brought her season's winnings to $88,315. She took the $23,000 Selma stakes at Laurel last week, also with Bourassa up. Today she paid her backers at the pari-mutuel booths handsomely, bringing $28.20 to win, $12.10 to place, and $6.00 to show on every $2 ticket.

Smithies Beat G. M. A., 12-7, To Tie For Prep Lead

Waugh, Morris Lead Attack on Cadets At Spiller's Friday

Mott is Outstanding Player for G. M. A. Team With Campbell and Booth Taking Other Honors in Game. Smithies Stage Passing Attack on Cadets From College Park.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

TECH HIGH managed to keep its head above water at Spiller's Friday afternoon, winning from the G. M. A. Cadets, 12 to 7. G. M. A. showed more offensive power than the Smithies, but a Cadet fumble gave Tech its first score, and the second score came as the result of a 20-yard run by Arnold Waugh.

G. M. A. repeated its performance in the Boys' High, fumbling the ball time after time, when fumbles were costly. The Cadets showed plenty of drive and fight, piling up 17 first downs to 6 for Tech.

Three young men who play for G. M. A., Campbell, Sorrel and Booth, ripped through the famous Smithie forward wall after time for long gains, and Buster Mott, elongated halfback, got away around the ends several times for nice gains.

Campbell, Cadet fullback, gave one of the best exhibitions of line plugging that prep crowds have witnessed this year. It was seldom that the Smithies stopped him, and it usually required four or five men to bring him to earth. Sorrel, captain and halfback, also gave a nice exhibition of line bucking.

The College Park line put up a good game, and made big holes for the backs of the Smithies, by virtue of its 70-yard race for a touch-down, in the third quarter. The Tech High line was not up to its usual standard, and Hadley, sensational plunger, failed to make a good showing.

The Aggies scored in the first quarter on a fumble made by Campbell. Waugh punted to the Cadets, giving them the ball, etc., their own 10-yard line. Campbell hit the line hard and fumbled. Vess, sub for Davis, at once recovered the ball for Tech High on G. M. A.'s 22-yard line. A pass, Waugh went through right tackle for three yards. Hadley made one more at center. Carlton was called on to buck it over and fumbled, a Tech High man falling on the ball about one foot from the goal line. Hadley hucked it over for the score. Waugh failed to kick goal.

G. M. A. came back fighting in the second half, and came near scoring two touchdowns instead of one. Booth started off with 20 yards at left tackle. The Cadets plunged their way down the field only to lose the ball on downs, well within Tech High territory.

Waugh again.

With the ball parked on Tech High's 30-yard line, Waugh got past the line of scrimmage, on an end run, and dashed for a touchdown. Campbell took him just at the line he crossed the goal line.

Tech High kicked off and G. M. A. started down the field. Campbell bucked it hard 1 yard. Mott

Camp Benning Beats Doctors

MENNSON, Tenn., November 5.—(AP) The doughboys of Fort Benning romped over the doctors of the Tennessee Medical school here today, 14 to 0.

Captain Kelly Kleegstrom, starring for the doughboys scored eight of the points with a touchdown and two point after passes, while Mitzen accounted for the other score.

In the second period Kleegstrom heaved a pass from his own 30-yard line to Frantz, who was downed on the Doctor's 30-yard line.

In the last period Kleegstrom slipped another pass to Frantz that brought the ball to the Doctor's 20-yard line. The Doughboy leader passed again to Frantz, who was downed on the five-yard line. Mitzen then took the ball over, Kleegstrom adding the extra point, Cadets their harder opposition this Brooks and Martin, in the backfield, were outstanding in their work for the Cadets, while McShane and Daher, ended their careers with G. M. A. in possession of the ball on Tech High's 25-yard line. Campbell fed the right guard for a yard, and made three more. Sorrel failed by inches to take the ball over.

Tech High punted out to G. M. A. on the Smithies 40-yard line. Mott, Booth and Sorrel downed the ball in the first quarter, when a bad man had given Tech High the ball on G. M. A.'s 22-yard line. A pass, Waugh to Hadley, netted 12 yards. With four downs and goal to go the Smithies were far at G. M. A.'s three-yard line where they were stopped.

MARIST AGGIES BEAT SAVANNAH.

Victory for the Monroe Aggies over the strong Savannah High team was achieved Friday by virtue of a superior driving and end-running attack.

The score was 19-13. Jones, of the Aggies, led the attack with powerful line bursts and set up the Savannah forward, reeling. In the difference in power lay the difference in score, for two of the Aggie touchdowns were

PETRELS SET FOR CITADEL SCRAP TODAY

Charleston, S. C., November 5.—(AP)

The Petrels, conquerors of Georgia Tech and Furman, arrived in Charleston this morning for their game with the Citadel tomorrow. It will be Walter Camp memorial day in Charleston. The Petrels were said by Coach Robertson to be in excellent shape and ready for a hard game.

The team took a snap victory at Hampton park late this afternoon.

The Citadel team probably will enter the game in the poorest physical condition this year. No practice was held today, as the squad journeyed to the hospital, practically all members suffering from some food eaten last night. The Citadel physician expects to have them ready for the opening whistle tomorrow, however. The Savannah was decidedly superior in the air attack and in the closing moments of the game, but the Petrels scored a victory by a succession of completed passes. For the most part the Savannah passes were short, traveling only about ten yards. But that was enough for Decatur to recover.

Decatur scored early in the first quarter, after the kick-off and after a completion of 15 yards, and another 12 yards. In the last half G. M. A. gained 156 yards from scrimmage to 115 for Tech High, counting Waugh's long run.

Only one casualty occurred, when Hadden, G. M. A. tackle, broke his arm in the first part of the game.

Spying Charge Adds to Spirit Between Schools

Buffalo, N. Y., November 5.—(AP)

Niagara, university and Canisius college, old rivals, will engage in their annual football game tomorrow with the atmosphere charged with bitterness, the result of charges of spying made today by Frank Weltzman, president of the student council of the Niagara institution.

In a protest forwarded to the Rev. Peter F. Cusick, president of Canisius college, Weltzman charged that Buffalo college had been trying to steal Niagara's signal and added that "it is generally known that Canisius has our signal beat." He said that the Niagara students had been trying to insure seeing two men through an orchard place from which the signal could be seen in action. The alarm was given and the alleged Canisius spies fled.

The Niagara protest, according to the Niagara statement, occurred yesterday when guards posted to insure secrecy of the Purple secret practice saw two men through an orchard place from which the signal could be seen in action. The alarm was given and the alleged Canisius spies fled.

Black Butterflies

INSTALLMENT XLII.
A JOLT FOR DAVID.

Kimball surprised David by taking him out to lunch. He was glad to go, glad to listen to "shop talk," gladdest of all that he had told Dorinda, during his brief pause at her bedside after breakfast, that he would make a practice of lunching downtown on week days. He couldn't go back to that house at noon, and yet, oddly, he wanted to go. He was haunted by the look on Dorinda's face, by the expression in her eyes when she had asked for the month's true, and by the memory of the hand she had suddenly slipped into his, undoubtedly to impress Miss Allen, when he was leaving.

"I'm coming down to dinner tonight," she told him. "Miss Allen thinks I can. And I'll ask Doctor Warren to stay if he comes in about six, which seems to be his favorite hour."

David was relieved. Evidently she was no more anxious than he for a tête-à-tête.

He went home at six, very tired. His arm had been an increasing nuisance, which surprised him. He had accepted the constant pain of the first few days as inevitable, but he had expected improvement before this. He passed his door and went on to the second door of Dorinda's sitting room, which, like his own, opened from the hall. The nurse greeted him with a carefree face.

"I'm dressing Mrs. Goddard for dinner," she explained, stepping back from the threshold, "but I suppose—"

"No, no. I'll come in after I'm dressed and help her downstairs," David said, and hurried away before she could reply. That incident certainly had messed things up for them in every way, and not the least of its irritating aftermaths was that it had placed them in such difficult positions under so many strange eyes. The voice of the nurse followed him along the hall. He returned.

MOON MULLINS—SAFE AT HOME

Mrs. Goddard says to tell you that Dr. Warren is coming to dinner, and Doctor Warren mentioned when he was leaving this morning that he would get here about half past six and examine your arm."

"Thanks."

David swung back to his own quarters, where Annie had evidently preceded him. Lights and fire were lit, and as the last detail of the pleasing picture a decanter on the smoking table held Scotch whisky, a siphon of soda, and highball glasses. David mixed himself a modest drink and, raising his glass, solemnly pledged Annie. He must tell her not to do that again, but tonight he needed a highball. The broken arm was throbbing like an ulcerated tooth and the continued pain was putting his nerves on edge. He was glad Warren was coming into look at the thing.

The drink comforted him and he went for Johnny and made his toilet, but with increasing difficulty. Odd how much worse the arm had got during the day, he reflected after the boy had gone. Probably it had been hurt by his unconscious movements when he forgot the injury in his absorption in work. No doubt it would be all right in the morning. But Doctor Warren, buoyantly entering thirty minutes later in the impressive formality of evening clothes, soon banished this hope. His examination, at first perfunctory and plainly based on the theory that nature was effectually looking after the break, took on a seriousness that clouded the cheerful expectancy of a hungry man now within fifteen minutes of a good meal.

"Tell me, Goddard," he asked abruptly when the patient had answered a few questions, "didn't they take an X-ray of this arm at Adneyport?"

"No, they decided that wasn't necessary—that it was a case of clean fracture, without complications."

"If they're not wrong I'll eat these pills!"

Warren's tone showed that he was divided between sympathy for his patient and the pleasant excitement of physician who has caught other doctors napping. "I'm awfully sorry, old chap, but I think this arm will have to be broken again. I'll telephone Wheeler and arrange to have an X-ray taken right after dinner. I'll make him develop it tonight, and if it shows what I think it will we'll do up the whole job early tomorrow morning."

"Break the arm again, you mean?" David demanded with natural reluctance.

"Yes. There's a nasty look about it and I don't want to take any chances. When did you eat last?"

"About one o'clock."

"You can't have another mouthful. You'll probably have to take either about eight in the morning. You may come to the table, though, and watch me eat, if you're altruistic enough to enjoy that. I used to dine here once in a while in the old man's day—I was his doctor, you know—and I heard the cooking hasn't fallen off any."

Warren was not at unfeeling as he sounded. He was merely giving the patient time to collect himself after the jolt he had received.

David spoke from a parched throat. "More bad luck." There seemed no end to his bad luck.

"This is going to knock me out again, isn't it?" he asked, at last.

"Not long. Only for a few days or a week. After that you can get around as you're doing now, till the bone knits, which it ought to do in about three weeks. In the meantime, it will give you a good excuse to stay at home this week and keep your wife company," the doctor grinned. As this prospect did not appear to cheer the patient, he offered further solace.

"I see you have some whisky here," he said, picking up the decanter. "You can have a small drink, if you like."

"Thanks. I had one when I came in. Help yourself."

"I bet you needed it," Warren suggested, as he accepted the invitation. "That arm must be hurting like the devil!" He set down his empty glass. "Isn't that the dinner gong? All right, let's go in and help Mrs. Goddard downstairs. I'll do the work and you can furnish the moral uplift. I'm not sure she ought to be up, but she's getting pretty restless and the change will help."

"Hold on." David caught the physician's arm as the latter started for the door. "Don't tell my wife anything about this arm till after dinner, will you?"

Warren nodded.

"I suppose that's best. But won't she notice that you're not eating?"

"I'll explain that I had a big lunch. It happens to be true. Kimball blew me off today," David explained. But their elaborate unconsciousness aroused Dorinda's suspicions.

"What have you two been doing in there all this time?" she demanded.

"Having a drink and letting Warren do his daily dozen on my arm," David told her. "He seemed to think it was a horizontal bar."

He walked to where she stood, near the door, supported by the nurse, and, bending, lightly kissed her cheek.

"Have you had a good day?" he asked, sympathetically.

"Yes."

As she spoke Dorinda turned her face away, but not until he had seen the wave of color that flooded it even through the remaining congestion. His black eyebrows lifted above his blue eyes. He was sorry he had annoyed her, but one had to put up some sort of bluff before these outsiders. She was looking stunning in the same gown she had worn at the Christmas party. He had admired it at the time and had told her so. Tonight nothing mattered much, though, except that infernal pain in his arm which was steadily growing worse. With the nurse on one side of her and the doctor on the other, Dorinda slowly descended the wide staircase and David followed in silence. A little sensitive, the nurse and doctor decided—and quite naturally so—over his inability to help her himself.

Vanderbilt Visitors

Honored at Dance.

Of much interest to the college and younger set is the announcement of the dance to be given in their honor by the Merrymakers' club at its hall at 5221-2 Peachtree on Saturday evening following the Vandy-Tech football game. Both the Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech teams will be the special guests of the evening. A large delegation from Vanderbilt will be in Atlanta for the game and their presence at the dance will add to the occasion.

The charmers will be Mrs. Bernard Wolfe, Mrs. Frank Orme, Mrs. Mamie F. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller. Music will be furnished by Charlie Traut's Melody Artists. Dancing will be from 9 until 1.

3 Pictures Comprise Matinee Program At Howard Theater

Three different pictures will form the unusually fine program given for the children of the city by the Atlanta Better Films committee at the regular Saturday morning matinee at the Howard this week at 9:30 o'clock with 10 cents for juniors and 25 cents for adults.

The feature picture is the uproarious comedy, "Behind the Front," with Raymond Beery and Raymond Hatton as stars. Also will be seen an extremely interesting two-reel picture, "Shoes," taken from the story of O. Henry, "Cabbages and Kings." The third picture, "The Great Cuckoo Mystery" will be a great drawing card for those who may have followed this exciting serial.

Mrs. Tom Brooke, chairman of Applied Education, who with her committee acted as hostess for the tea, was introduced by Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, who presides over the guests of honor at this time. Assisting Mrs. Brooke were Mesdames James Logan, Potter-Spiker, Charles Morris, J. R. Bachman, Joel Hunter, H. M. Nichols, R. A. Gallenkamp, George S. Vandaman, J. H. Stiff, Fort B. Land, Frank Nadeau, Roger Wilson, George Ober, Robert B. Cunningham, T. E. Cullen, Lewis Brooke, R. H. Palmer, and Miss Rose Moran.

Among the distinguished guests who spoke delightfully were Mrs. Walker, the wife of the general who has a wide reputation as a speaker and an authority on educational work. Another charming speaker in the interest of Tallulah Falls Industrial School Inc., was Mrs. J. K. Ottley, also Mrs. John G. Courtney, who spoke briefly in praise of the educational program of the Students' Aid Foundation and Miss Barker on all her arts.

A musical program was rendered by the well-known violinist, Ruth Dubney Smith, assisted by Mrs. Bedard. The club was attractively decorated with fall flowers of many hues, by the says human labor even in the matter of putting the baby to sleep. There fore why should the modern mother linger at home when a trusty spring on the rocker works more steadily than a nervous foot (or was it hand?) reflecting the state of mind of the anxious mother who knows that right at the same moment a lecture is on at the club about the psychology of childhood or the danger to health of rocking the baby, either by human or mechanical means?

And of course when Mr. Williams speaks of "her club" he means an organization, and not necessarily a weapon, although the two, he admits, are frequently and justifiably synonymous.

I ENJOYED Mr. Williams because he talks about women as women; just average, nice women, and not biological specimens of uneven development. His tone, unlike some other male students of my sex whom I have read after late, would even seem to indicate his belief about women that Atlanta Chapter D. A. R. Will Entertain at Tea.

The Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., will entertain at tea Wednesday, November 10, from 4 to 6 at Carnegie Hall. Guests of the chapter are Mrs. Herbert Franklin, and Mrs. Julius Talmadge, vice president of the General National society, D. A. R., and the members of the state executive board, who will be guests of the Joseph Habersham chapter for the day.

The chapter has invited the members to the members of the Atlanta chapter, the Joseph Habersham chapter, the Piedmont Continental chapter and to all visiting D. A. R.'s who will be in the city at that time.

the Lord made them, and made no mistake when he did.

"In general the ability of the organized, serious-minded woman to secure the help of the whole community in behalf of its private homes (public welfare, in other words) is a public utility everywhere to be reckoned with," writes Mr. Williams.

"This is especially true in the west and middle west. Already, in California, the wisest political leaders among the men are said to speak nowadays in favor of in some degree the creation of state women's clubs as of any other group. Their explanation is that, outside of the old-time politicians, no other large group takes so seriously its political responsibilities."

I like what he says about the splendid example the women's clubs set in their local chapters of communists and Kwanis clubs in the more liberal topics the women discuss—topics of less concern locally than local business, even though not directly tied up with local business ends and annual profit and loss.

If instance, if they have a world court proposed, to put to their club membership the information they derive in libraries to get is all right and the scholarly authorities they quote to prove their points. But they would probably be more convincing if they would stop their library research long enough to search in their own minds for their own reactions, because in company of like minds like arguments would naturally be most productive of result.

PLAYCRAFTERS OFFER 3-ACT PLAY TONIGHT

Three one-act plays, featuring "Everyman," will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock at the Playcrafter theater, just off Atwood street in West End, in the opening performance of the Playcrafter's club. The other two plays are "Fancy Free," by Stanley Hough, and "Fifteen Minutes," by Fred Stewart.

This production is said to be one of the best of the season, and special scenic effects have been designed by Fred Stewart, director, and Eugene Jones, assistant director.

Cast members include: Richard Clark, as "Everyman"; Henry Kingdon, as "Death"; Walter Paschal, as "Fellowship"; Walter Dallas, as "Knowledge"; Virginia Robinson, as "Beauty"; Clestelle McNeal, as "Good Deeds"; John Alcorn, as "Kindred," and Carlos Lynes, as "Goods."

M'DERMOTT FACES TRIAL DECEMBER 6 IN CANTON MURDER

Canton, Ohio, November 5.—(P)—Out of a day of stormy sessions in Stark county common pleas court, the state today won its motion to try Patrick Eugene McDermott, indicted for the murder of Don R. Mellett, before trying Louis Mazer, a co-defendant. Tentatively, McDermott's trial is

Philibosian Offers Great Variety and Lower Prices To the Christmas Shopper

Tremendous Stock Makes Selection of Appropriate Gifts Easy; Cash Policy Means Big Saving.

Christmas is only a few weeks off, and once again we are confronted with the problem of what to give our loved ones.

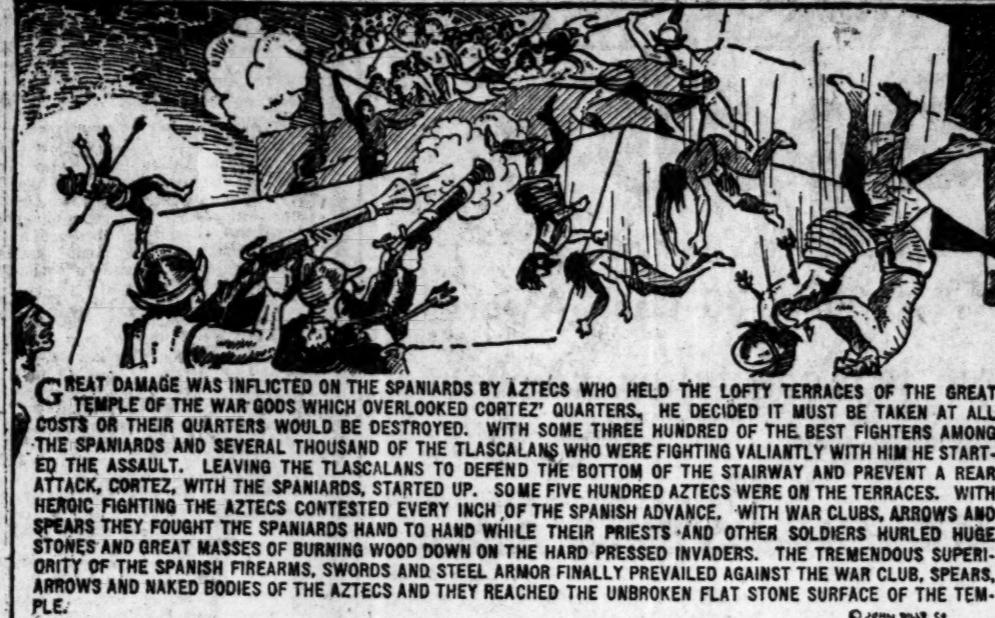

The firm of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., the South's most beautiful furnishings, offers you a unique opportunity to all prospective buyers of Christmas presents, not only to select a suitable gift for any or every member of the family, but an opportunity to save considerably money on such purchases.

It is the call that Stephen Philibosian, Inc., sells articles for cash; their prices are very noticeably lower and the quality of the merchandise at this store will convince the most skeptical upon sight.

Regardless of how much money one expects to spend for a Christmas present there is something at the stores of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., that will appeal. There are beautiful yet inexpensive smoking stands, boudoir lamps, occasional tables, bric-a-brac stands, odd chairs, wall desks, sewing tables, novelty pieces of many kinds: rings, cufflinks, picture frames, and the extraordinarily good service of the Philibosian sales organization offers the public.

One fact will convince you that even the claim this firm makes about quality merchandise and low prices, because of their cash policy, is absolutely true. (adv.)

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

Great damage was inflicted on the Spaniards by Aztecs who held the lofty terraces of the great temple of the war gods which overlooked Cortez' quarters. He decided it must be taken at all costs or their quarters would be destroyed. With some three hundred of the best fighters among the Spaniards and several thousand of the Tlascalan who were fighting valiantly with him he started the assault, leaving the Tlascalan to defend the bottom of the stairway and prevent a rear attack. Cortez, with the Spaniards, started up. Some five hundred Aztecs were on the terraces with heroes fighting the Aztecs contested every inch of the Spanish advance. With war clubs, arrows and spears they fought the Spaniards hand to hand while their priests and other soldiers hurled huge stones and great masses of burning wood down on the hard pressed invaders. The tremendous superiority of the Spanish firearms, swords and steel armor finally prevailed against the war clubs, spears, arrows and naked bodies of the Aztecs and they reached the unbroken flat stone surface of the temple.

Miss Thelma Hollis Is Bride Of Samuel Miller

The marriage of Miss Thelma Cecil Hollis to Samuel Joseph Miller was an event of Friday evening, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hollis in West End, Rev. Charles M. Meeks officiating.

Miss Louise Ellis played the wedding march from "Lohengrin," and "O Promise Me" was played softly during the ceremony. A profusion of chrysanthemums, ferns and palms formed the decorations throughout the house.

Arranged before the fireplace in the living room was an improvised altar, banked with stately palms and ferns. In the center of which was a tall vase filled with white chrysanthemums. On either side were candleabra with burning tapers.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. They were joined at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Harold Jenkins.

The bride was lovely in a white crepe and rose pink suit, fashioned with tiny fitting bodice and full skirt. Her veil was held in place by a coronet of lace and orange blossoms. Her flowers were roses and swansons.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held. The bride's friends assisted in entertaining.

Miss Dorothy Duncan kept the bride busy. Miss Vera Mae Stooff and Miss Algia Currie served punch.

Miss Thelma Currie, Miss Hattie Bledsoe, Miss Jessie Bledsoe, Miss Elizabeth Meredith and Mrs. Charles Burnett served refreshments.

Mrs. Hollis, the bride's mother, was beginning to grow very tired.

Her corset was sunset roses and swansons. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for a traveling costume of tan frost crepe trimmed in darker shade of velvet and gold buttons, with hat and accessories to match. Her coat was tan suede cloth with dyed fitch collar and cuffs.

BOOTLEGGERS PAY $50,000 FOR TAXES

Savannah, Ga., November 5.—(P)—Compromised settlement for $50,000 in the Bailey and Tuten equity cases brought by the government to collect taxes on income, was effected in federal court today by decree of Judge Barrett.

Certified checks were turned over to federal officials, $40,000 for Rich A. Bailey, and $10,000 for Chesley C. Tuten. The decrees nullify all liens of the government for these two cases against property rights of the respective defendants.

This settlement involves one of the largest sums paid into federal court here in many years, and brings to a close the aftermath of the defendants in the alleged bootlegging case.

A general disarmament conference in 1928 which would make some beginning toward limitation of armament is now the program of the statesmen close to the negotiations. The general belief is that a conference in 1927, as desired by the last assembly of the League of Nations, is impossible because it is felt that consideration of the political aspect will not be completed in time.

THE PROBLEM:

What is the sum total of the figures forming the elephant? Simply add them up to get the solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of The Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, east and middle Tennessee, may take part in this contest. Every employee of the Atlanta Constitution, numbers of their families, and those who have won first and second awards in similar contests conducted by The Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the four amounts designated in the award list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered a solution cannot be changed.

The Atlanta Constitution offers these awards for individual effort. While it is the desire of the Constitution to have both of one household to work together, or several friends, it is not necessary for two or more of those working in union to send in a solution of the puzzle. All persons, regardless of age, sex, race, or any other person, household, or group of persons working together, when entering the contest, are considered to be contestants. The Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family, or more than one household, will not be considered to be contestants if they have not worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to the Constitution to make payment for subscriptions and return the solution if it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide any questions which may arise and all contestants entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.

5. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to the Atlanta Constitution office on or before 5 o'clock Saturday, November 27, 1924.

Solutions received after that date will be accepted, if rules governing same are complied with. This contest extends to December 17, to include Saturday, November 27, 1924.

Awards will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger amounts, and the smaller amounts qualifying remittances will be accepted.

6. In case of ties, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any awards are given for ties, another solution or another puzzle will be submitted to the Constitution. If two or more people should tie, then the two or more awards will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in the order of the first solution. If there are two or more awards, if ties still result, as many as five tie-breaking puzzles will be used, after which should ties still result, each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.

This contest is open to new subscribers only, and the regular subscription rate of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $10.00 for twelve months, $15.00 for twenty-four months, $20.00 Taxable Values in Cities Of Dixie Are Announced By U. S. Census Bureau

Atlanta Is One of Leaders in Amount of Property Subject To Taxes—Louisville First in South

Washington, November 5.—(AP)—Property subject to general property taxes for city purposes has an assessed valuation in 1925 of $93,184,524,000 and $20,000; Austin, Texas, $39,200,000 and $8,899,000; Birmingham, Ala., $33,200,000 and $3,200,000; Wichita Falls, Texas, $33,330,000 and $1,111,000; Charleston, S. C., $24,302,000 and $1,005,000, and Columbia, S. C., $18,056,000 and $8,133,000.

Miami, Fla., was not included in the bureau's table. No explanation for its exclusion was given.

Amusements

Rialto Theater.

Final performances of "The Great Gatsby" will be given at the Rialto Monday and Tuesday. It will be succeeded by the famous picture "The Flaming Frontier."

"The Great Gatsby" is thoroughly deserving of the fine patronage that has been given it this week by Rialto movie fans. The cast includes Warner Baxter, Lois Wilson and others.

Loew's Grand.

Four performances of the excellent vaudeville headed by Jack Wilson, comedian, will be presented Saturday at Loew's Grand theater, where the stupendous picture, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," is the feature attraction. The late Rudolph Valentino appears in the role in "The Four Horsemen," which critics have termed the best of his career. Jack Wilson and his clever company appear in a breezy comedy sketch. Other acts on the bill are Yated and Carson, funny showmen; and Marconi, Warren Keen and Grace White in a novelty act. The Marcus sisters and Carlton in a beautiful dancing revue, and Horland company, Japanese foot jugglers.

The Forsyth.

Today's two performances of "Silence," a matinee and night show, brings to a close what has abounded in record-shattering smashes at the Forsyth. Box office receipts, attendance figures, pleased crowds—every record has gone to smothering before the remarkable thriller of human emotion.

"Silence" will live a long time in the hearts of the theatergoers because few such plays can be classed in its top notch order, and certainly nothing in the last decade had appealed to the masses with such a firmness as Maxine's hand effort.

With the passing of "Silence" fans now turn to "Laff That Off," "Ladies of the Evening" and other splendiferous stage comedy. Manager Semon has booked for his famous players outfit.

Tudor Theater.

Lefty Flynn, who a few years back was the sensation of the gridiron, appears in "The College Boob," a story of college life and sports, now being shown at the Tudor.

"The College Boob" is a story of college life, vividly portraying the work and play of a big university, having as its main character a boy who thought he was having a good time at college until he discovered some were making a bootleg hit, and another until "he's out." A stirring climax is reached in one of the best football games ever shown on the screen.

On the same program with "The College Boob" is International News and a Fox comedy.

Howard Theater.

"The Eagle of the Sea" is the feature picture at the Greater Howard theater, which is being shown for the last time today. This Frank Lloyd production is a tale of pirates in the days when "life on the ocean wave" was pretty darned lively.

Ricardo Cortez, co-featured with Florence Vidor, has the most colorful role of his career as Laffitte, bravo of "Ministerial Memories." A public theater presentation with a fine cast of 25 entertainers is the chief stage attraction. Wetzel and Ringo, vocal duet, appear as an added stage attraction.

MORTUARY

EUGENE MARTINURE, JR.
Eugene Martinure, Jr., 24, died a natural death at his home. The body will be carried to Columbus, Ga., this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock for interment, following funeral services at 3 p.m. at the Hazel & Son at 2 o'clock. Mr. Martinure is survived by his father, Eugene Martinure, of Columbus, and one brother, John P. Martinure.

Chicago, November 5.—(AP)—Criminal proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, Edward L. Doheny and Albert E. Fall, growing out of leases of the Trans-Mississippi and Ed. Hill naval oil reserves, now set for November 22, may be delayed by a petition filed today in the supreme court by Sinclair and Fall.

November 10 has been fixed as the date for appearance of the oil companies in the District of Columbia supreme court to answer to the indictment, but it is expected that counsel for Sinclair and Fall will call the trial court's attention to the effort to pass on the validity of the indictment.

The supreme court is now in recess and, since it will not convene until November 22, the earliest date on which it can act on the petition will be November 29 and it may be that the trial court will decide to suspend proceedings until it knows what the supreme court will do.

Sinclair and Fall, in their petition to the supreme court today, attacked the constitutionality of an order of the commission to the oil companies to begin certain enforcement of orders.

"Such baseless charges," said Frank Murphy, attorney for the oil companies, "are sent out by the Knights of Columbus to bolster its policy of religious oppression, which is without a parallel even in Soviet Russia."

"The Mexican government," it continued, "has freed freedom of speech and freedom of religion and has suspended the writ of habeas corpus and denied right to trial by jury. But since it has been unable to break the will of the Mexican people by such methods, its agents now are resorting to murder, rape and cruelty the like of which have never been witnessed in the Americas continent."

The supreme knight charged that "within a few days a young girl, the daughter of one of the most cultured families in Mexico City, was arrested for passing out Defense League literature, and was outraged. Similar treatment to bolster its policy of religious oppression, which is without a parallel even in Soviet Russia."
